CULTIVATION.

IN THE OPEN GARDEN Hyacinths prefer a good sandy loam, enriched with old stable manure; peaty soil also suits them if well drained, or peat mixed with loamy or sandy soil grows them splendidly. Do not succeed in dry soils. They should be planted in rows or in clumps 6 to 12 inches apart, and the crown of the bulb must be covered with at least 2 inches of soil. If the shoot, when it comes through the ground, shows an inclination to open and reveal the flower buds which it encloses, cover it at once with an inverted flower pot, the object being to draw the stem from the bulb while it is enclosed in the leaves and before the flower is exposed to the sun. If this is not done it sometimes happens that the flower begins to colour when only a portion of it has appeared, and the beauty of the spike is thus lost. Allow the flower pot to remain until the flower stem is well through and above ground, then remove it, and fine spikes will be secured. The bulbs must be lifted when their foliage has died down after flowering.

HYACINTHS GROWN IN POTS are very beautiful. Plant in six-inch pots, in rich loamy, sandy or peaty soil, well mixed; drain the pots well, place them in a shady or dark place until shoots appear above ground, and water sparingly, but, when in full growth, give a liberal allowance. The addition of a little JADOO FIBRE mixed with the soil will be found very beneficial, it helps to retain the moisture, also acts as a fertilizer, materially increasing the size and colour of the flower.

TO GROW HYACINTHS IN WATER (Glasses for this purpose see below). Place the Hyacinth in the glass sufficiently filled with water to allow the base of the bulb to barely touch it, and place them in a dark cupboard for about three weeks, until the roots are well started and the shoot is at least half-an-inch long, then remove them by degrees to a well-lighted position in the room near the window, and as close to the glass as possible. Renew the water once a week, and keep it filled up to the base of the bulb only.

Hyacinths grown in water are most interesting, and make lovely plants, spikes often 9 inches long; they are very easily grown, and do well in this climate.

HYACINTHS

We have a very large stock of acclimatised colonial-grown bulbs, the finest in the Commonwealth, and can supply in large quantities. The fine blooms shown in our window during the flowering season is sufficient evidence of the superiority of our EXETER-GROWN BULBS. Finer flowers have never been seen, some of the varieties producing heads of flowers 7 and 9 inches long, borne on stout stems more than a foot high. This flower can be used for all kinds of decorative work, and has the advantage of lasting for fully a week in water, in addition to a most delightful perfume.
